OUR NEW INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

CLASS PROPHECY

As we arrive at the airport for our thrilling trip around the world, we are just in time to see ex-president Eisenhower's plane, the Columbine, land in the field. The door opens and who should step out on the stair but our old classmate, Sue Ferguson. She is Mr. Eisenhower's private stewardess, the only one of her kind.

We talk with Sue awhile before our plane leaves and she tells us that they had just come from a meeting in Washington, where she had run into another old classmate. It seems as though Mark Yoh had become the owner of General Motors and then taken over the job as Secretary of Defense. He is doing very well, too. You know the old slogan of "What's good for Yoh's Motors is good for the country."

Sue also told us that Janet Rogers was making the headlines. It seems that she took a job as Private Secretary to Dave Beck, and has been hiding behind the 5th Amendment for quite a while now.

Our plane finally arrives and we step aboard. After sitting in the seat for a while, my eyes begin to play tricks on me, because I think I see someone I know. Well, what do you know. It's Elvis Presley and his baby-sitter, who is none other than Ruth Waltmire. I guess Ruth decided that she wanted to get closer to the arts, so she applied for a job with Elvis. Floria Schmidt also applied, but she received a better offer. She's now the owner of Rin-Tin-Tin and is pulling in quite a large amount of money.

Since we are going west, we stop over in Chicago. Who should be at the airport to meet us but Marvel Etzler. It seems she heard we would be arriving so she left the office to come down. Oh, you probably don't recall, but Marvel went on to Nurses' Training and got a job with Doctor Hudson. I hear he even keeps his journal a secret from her. Marvel tells us to be sure to stop in at the museum of art because we would get to see Robert Leslie's exhibit. He has had exhibits all over the world now, and his paintings are selling very rapidly. He has started a new phase in painting called "Neilism."

We then went to Denver, where we had another stopover. As you know, the Air Force has its academy out there and who should we see, but Alvin Pancake. He has a very high-ranking job, and is known all over the country. He plays "Reville" every morning over a loud speaker which is connected with every camp in the United States.

Also, in Denver, we saw Bill Mohr. He came out here to get away from it all. He goes to the art institute, I guess. He was so disappointed because he didn't get his James Dean Statues, that he went into the business and has made a fortune selling them.

We stop at Hollywood to let Elvis and Ruth off and we see another familiar face. This is on a billboard advertising a movie. Yep, we always knew Gene would make the big time some day. Why, with his looks and acting ability, how can you miss?

Taking off across the blue Pacific, we wonder if we will ever see any of the other old school chums. When we arrive on Hawaii, we get our answer. There, lying on the beach, with not a care in the world, is Bob Mefferd. We always knew that sleeping in class would influence his life, but not this much!

Bob Dowler was with him, but he had to fly back to the states to work on a new secret device which the government is preparing. He always was a smart lad.

We were also just in time to view the air-show, which was put on by a daring pilot, who was doing a pantomime while standing on the wing of the plane. We were certainly surprised to find out that it was Linda Mollenkopf, but we always said that she had a lot of energy.

We also found that Charlene Graham was teaching in Honolulu. She's a hula instructor. Charlene tells us that Anna Weaver has just won the Homemaker of the Year award, and that Virginia Trimble was selected as Mrs. World. They're quite a tribute to our class. She also said that Ellouise Wood was in Mexico teaching English with a Southern accent to wetbacks who were crossing into the United States. It seems that Ella's sister, Wilma, is running a mink ranch somewhere in the West. I don't know who told Charlene all this, but it was very interesting.

We are on to Japan to find more experiences like finding Norm Miller pulling a rickshaw, poor guy. He had just gotten a ticket for speeding.

In India, we hear that Jeanette Krueckeberg has just led an expedition up a mountain side. The latest report has it that they are nearing the top. We were fortunate indeed to receive an invitation to dinner from an Indian prince. We were certainly surprised to find that his wife was Joan Greulach. She had been his secretary. Joan tells us that her old friend, Betty Etzler has had a good stroke of luck. She went to Africa to teach and fell into a diamond mine. She is now sending samples to all her friends. Joan asks about Ruth Schumm and we tell her that Ruth has been touring the states and giving talks. She is America's leading fashion designer.

We leave exotic India and arrive in gay Paris, where we see Jeanette Baer climbing the Eiffel Tower. She does it every year.

As we cross to England, we come along side a swimmer, who happens to be Karen Sinn. She has to practice to win the channel meet against Florence Chadwick. Karen says that Janet Slane and Pat Foley had just been in England. They had given a command performance for the queen. I guess they are great opera stars with an English company. We also learned that Colleen Reid is in the entertainment world. She is in New Orleans playing piano for some jazz band.

On our way home and across the Atlantic, we finally come to New York. As we register at the hotel, we meet the owner, Judy May. Judy never was one to leave a job half finished. She built the biggest hotel in the world, a mile high and covering four city blocks. Judy tells us that Janet Grant went to college to become a physical education teacher, but won the Olympics last year. What field? Weight lifting, I guess. Our old friend Audrey Springer is also in New York. She is the organist at one of New York's largest churches.

In Van Wert again, we see that the new president of Bushong Ford Sales has really been remodeling. Joseph was always good at building.

Finally back to Convoy, we meet the only classmate who remained at home. Sondra Densel has the largest home in Convoy. Don't worry about the railroad that goes through her house. She owns that too.

Well, I'd better get my column written. You knew that I was the foreign correspondent for the world's largest newspaper, didn't you? Which one? Why, the Radar.

By Francie Stemen

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of 1957, do will and bequeath these possessions and talents which we have left after 12 grueling years of school.

To Mr. Linn: We will you the Juniors to do with them as you see fit.

To Mr. Johnson: We will you our ability to be quiet while someone else is speaking, (especially in chapel.)

To Mr. Bricker: We will you the athletic ability of the Senior girls.

To Mr. Goddard: We feel you already have a share of our class.

To Mr. Edwards: The wonderful knowledge that you have gone through another year without a scratch.

To Mr. Deitsch: The happy felling that you are finally getting rid of such a dumb health class.

To Mr. Wojcik: We will you a new display case for your projects.

To Mr. Van Buren: We will you the good luck (What's left of it) that we have experienced all through school and the best wishes for a good year in agriculture.

To Mr. Milliman: We will you any modern convenience which you do not have already.

To Mrs. Hippenstein: We will you the feeling of utter dismay at the thought of losing all of your talented Seniors.

To Mr. Putterbaugh: We leave our utmost thanks for not counting us tardy all the days we came in late.

To Miss Jones: We thank you for your patience and will you our best wishes in the coming years.

To Mr. Kloha: We will you a tunnel from the school to the shop so you won't get caught in the rain.

To Miss Myers: We will you whatever you really wanted for Christmas.

To Marilyn: We will you a motor-bike to take you to the bank and back.

To the Juniors: We will you our caps and gowns unless you can swing it and get new ones.

To the Sophomores: We will our good maners and our ability to keep one step ahead of the teachers.

To the Freshmen: We will you some poise and the ability to chew gum without getting caught.

AS INDIVIDUALS, BEING OF ALMOST SOUND MIND AND BODY, WE WILL, DEVISE, AND BEQUEATH THE FOLLOWING:

I, Bob Dowler, will my ability to get along with Mr. Deitsch to Jon Bower.

I, Gene Goings, will my ability to get along with Mr. Wojick to Glenn Fackler.

I, Linda Mollenkopf, will my energy to the Juniors . . . They'll need it!

I, Jeanette Krueckeberg, will my ability to get along with Mr. Milliman to Tom Bauer.

I, Betty Etzler, will my ability to stay slim to my brother, Zeke.

I, Joan Greulach, will my ability to get to school early to Elizabeth Clay.

I, Bob Mefferd, will my brains to Jerry Grubaugh.

I, Alvin Pancake, will my ability to play cornet to the cornet section.

I, Ruth Waltmire, will my ability to get along with my boss to Peg Fleenor.

- I, Janet Rogers, will my typing accuracy to Mary Etzler.
- I, Karen Sinn, will my dignity to Deanna Carrier.
- I, Charlene Graham, will my ability to talk in Health class to anyone who is foolish enough to try it.
- I, Pat Foley, will my good posture to Mr. Johnson, and my place in sextet to Carol Etzler.
- I, Sue Ferguson, will my wit and sense of humor to Alvin Etzler.
- I, Francie Sternen, will my English ability to Mr. Johnson.
- I, Bill Mohr, will my acting ability to Delmar Pratt, and my ability to do everyone else's work and get a lower grade to anyone foolish enough.
- I, Wilma Wood, will my ability to be the first married after graduation to Elaine Heare.
- I, Ruth Schumm, will my ability to get ready for a date in 15 minutes to Donna Chapman.
- I, Robert Leslie, will my "blue" vocabulary to the Etzler twins.
- I, Jeannette Baer, will my athletic ability to Thelma Gaskill.
- I, Judy May, will my place as drum majorette to Colleen Bagley and my cheerleading ability to Kay Reidenbach.
- I, Mary Yoh, will my height to Don Owens and my quiet mannerisms to Jim Adams.
- I, Norm Miller, will my seat in the Senior room to Clark Stephenson.
- I, Joseph Meyer, will my height to Floyd Heath, and my ability to stay in school to Albert Taylor.
- I, Ellouise Wood, will my southern accent to Martha Lou Albright.
- I, Anna Weaver, will my home-ec ability to Sharon Fensler.
- I, Marvel Etzler, will my chewing gum wads to the Freshmen and hope that they have strong putty knives.
- I, Sondra Densel, will my pierced ears to Anna Gunsett.
- I, Colleen Reid, will my blond hair to Roger Gaskill.
- I, Virginia Trimble, will my old diamonds to the unfortunate girls who have none.
- I, Gloria Schmidt, will my straight hair to Sandra Mohr.
- I, Janet Slane, will my broomstick to anyone who likes to fly off the handle, and my petiteness to Joyce Matthews.
- I, Audrey Springer, will my quiet voice and ways to Kathy Haines.
- I, Janet Grant, will my red hair to Mr. Milliman.
